

I-DEV SUMMER RESEARCH ANALYST (NEW YORK)

POSITION: Summer Research Analyst (Undergraduate)

PROGRAM DATE: June - August 2010

LOCATION: New York, NY

I-DEV International:

I-DEV International (www.idevinternational.com) is a full service management & financial strategy advisory firm for the development sector with offices in New York, Peru and Singapore. I-DEV fosters economic development through the creation of viable, economically sustainable small and medium sized enterprises (SMEs) at the base of the pyramid (BoP). The firm works with multinational corporations and NGOs to provide BoP communities with the training, resources, and relationships needed to build financially-independent businesses that are tapped into existing markets at the national and international level. I-DEV's services include:

- Strategic management consulting for businesses at the base of the pyramid
- Financial strategy advisory
- Supply chain and distribution network development
- Strategic marketing and branding
- Financial audit & transparency advisory
- In-field CSR & development project design & management; project support & monitoring
- Business creation & incubation services for the BoP

Position Description & Duties:

Summer Research Analysts will work with I-DEV's New York team to identify and research potential corporate partners/clients and international development, social entrepreneurship and corporate responsibility programs., and prepare the team for meetings, and research topics related to I-DEV's corporate strategy. Summer Research Analysts will also spend part of their time reporting to and assisting the Peru office on supply chain and certifications (organic, fair trade and other) research and analysis on new projects in Latin America. Summer Research Analyst positions are unpaid, however I-DEV will cover any work related expenses.

Qualifications:

Applicants interested in applying must be a current or recent undergraduate students with an academic focus in business, economics, social entrepreneurship or a similar subject, and must have proven industry research experience and strong communication skills. They must demonstrate an established record of professional achievement and integrity, and the capacity for critical, creative, and entrepreneurial thinking. Previous work experience in the traditional business, economics, social entrepreneurship, or other similar fields (with significant amount of research experience) is a plus.

All applicants should demonstrate a commitment to I-DEV's mission and be comfortable working in an entrepreneurial work environment. Knowledge of Spanish, or fluency, is a plus as some of the research conducted will relate to projects in Latin America.

How to Apply:

Send a cover letter and resume to the contact listed below, Subject Title: "NYC Summer Research Analyst."

The rolling application process begins on February 5th, 2010.

Ms. Patricia Chin-Sweeney
Director of Business Development & Corporate Strategy careers@idevinternational.com